On the Bright Side of Quarantine

Lithuanian photographer Adas Vasiliauskas has been using a drone to capture pictures of people in their homes since the country went under quarantine on 16th March, 2020.

1. Look at the photographs. Think about the following as you examine them:

   - Who is in the picture?
   - Where are they? What can you see?
   - What are they doing?
   - If there’s more than one person in the photograph, what do you think their relationship is?

2. Choose 6 photographs and write a caption for each of them. Think of the context and the story behind them. (Please note: conversational, informal language works best with captions!)

3. Choose your favourite portrait and write down the answers to the following questions:

   A. What can you tell about the people in the picture?

   B. What would you ask these people? Write one question.

   C. How do you imagine the person or people in the picture in two hours’ time? What do you think happened right before taking the picture?

   D. How does the photograph make you feel?
